NRS § 133.115 (2002)

§ 133.115. Revocation of provisions in favor of former spouse on divorce or annulment; exceptions

Divorce or annulment of the marriage of the testator revokes every devise, beneficial interest or designation to serve as personal representative given to the testator's former spouse in a will executed before the entry of the decree of divorce or annulment unless otherwise:

1. Provided in a property or separation agreement which is approved by the court in the divorce or annulment proceedings; or

2. Ordered by the court in the divorce or annulment proceedings, and the will takes effect in the same manner as if the former spouse had died before the testator.

HISTORY: 1967, p. 804; 1999, ch. 467, § 82, p. 2257.

NOTES:

EFFECT OF AMENDMENT. --The 1999 amendment, in the introductory language, substituted "devise, beneficial" for "beneficial devise, legacy or," following "testator revokes every," inserted "or designation to serve as personal representative"; in subsection 1, deleted "and not merged in the decree" following "proceedings"; in the language following subdivision 2, substituted "takes effect" for "shall take effect."

CROSS REFERENCES. --As to divorce, see NRS 125.010 to 125.185. As to annulment, see NRS 125.290 to 125.440.
