Legislative Counsel's Digest:

Existing law requires the State Engineer to confirm or reject reports of conveyances of water rights that are filed with his Office. (NRS 533.386)

This bill clarifies that the confirmation of a report of conveyance is not a determination of ownership and that only a court of competent jurisdiction may adjudicate conflicting claims to ownership of a water right. This bill also clarifies that if it appears to the State Engineer that there is a conflict in the chain of title, the State Engineer shall reject a report of conveyance and take no further action with respect to the report until a court of competent jurisdiction has determined the conflicting claims to ownership of the water right and the determination has become final. This bill further clarifies that if the State Engineer learns that a court of competent jurisdiction has entered a judgment confirming ownership of a water right or resolving a conflict in a chain of title, and the judgment has become final, the State Engineer shall take such action as necessary to conform the records of his Office with the judgment, including, without limitation, amending or withdrawing a permit or certificate that was previously approved by the State Engineer. This bill has retroactive application.
