

CHAPTER.....

AN ACT relating to industrial insurance; revising certain deadlines relating to claims against a subsequent injury account; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

Legislative Counsel's Digest:

Existing law creates certain subsequent injury accounts for the payment of compensation for a disability that is the result of a work-related subsequent injury. If the disability from a subsequent injury is substantially greater because of the combined effects of a preexisting work-related injury and the subsequent injury, the compensation due the injured employee must be paid from a subsequent injury account. (NRS 616B.557, 616B.578, 616B.587) Existing law establishes certain requirements relating to the notification of a possible claim against the account and to when decisions on claims for reimbursement from an account must be made. (NRS 616B.557, 616B.560, 616B.578, 616B.581, 616B.587, 616B.590) Sections 1, 3 and 5 of this bill revise the deadlines for the notification of a claim for reimbursement from a subsequent injury account and for the notification of a decision on a claim for reimbursement from a subsequent injury account.
