EXPLANATION – Matter in bolded italics is new; matter between brackets [omitted material] is material to be omitted.

AN ACT relating to protective orders; revising the provisions governing additional penalties imposed for certain violations of orders for the protection of children; revising the jurisdiction of certain justice courts with respect to the issuance of orders for protection against domestic violence; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

Legislative Counsel's Digest:

1 Existing law imposes an additional penalty on a person who commits certain
2 felonies when violating certain types of protective orders. (NRS 193.166) Section 1
3 of this bill provides that a person who intentionally violates an extended order for 4 the protection of a child, which is a felony, is not subject to the additional penalty
5 unless the person committed an additional felony when the person violated the 6 order. (NRS 33.400)

7 Existing law provides that justice courts have jurisdiction to issue orders for 8 protection against domestic violence, except in certain counties and townships or 9 when certain actions are pending in district court. (NRS 4.370) Instead of the 10 exception for certain pending action, section 2 of this bill provides that a justice
11 court does not have jurisdiction to issue an order for protection against domestic 12 violence if a district court issues a written order to the justice court requiring that 13 further proceedings relating to the action for the issuance of the order of protection
14 be conducted before the district court.
