EXPLANATION – Matter in bolded italics is new; matter between brackets [omitted material] is material to be omitted.

AN ACT relating to criminal procedure; revising provisions for determining whether a defendant is competent to stand trial or be punished for a criminal offense; requiring all other departments of the court which has suspended a trial to determine competency of a defendant to suspend any other proceedings related to the defendant; reducing the time by which a court must determine competency when a trial is not requested; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

Legislative Counsel's Digest:

Existing law provides that a person may not be tried or punished for a criminal offense while he is incompetent and defines the term “incompetent.” (NRS 178.400) Section 1 of this bill revises the definition of “incompetent” to include a person who does not have the present ability to understand the nature and purpose of the court proceedings or to assist his counsel with a reasonable degree of rational understanding.

Existing law requires the court to suspend proceedings if a question arises as to the competency of a criminal defendant until the question of competence is resolved. (NRS 178.405) Section 2 of this bill clarifies that competency may be determined at any time after the arrest of a defendant. Section 2 also requires the suspension of any other proceedings relating to the defendant once the question of competency is raised until the defendant is determined to be competent.

In certain circumstances, existing law requires the Administrator of the Division of Mental Health and Developmental Services of the Department of Health and Human Services to evaluate the competency of certain criminal defendants and to send a written report of his findings and opinions regarding the competency of the defendant to the court. (NRS 178.455) Section 3 of this bill requires the Administrator, in evaluating the competency of a defendant, to consider among other factors, whether the defendant is of sufficient mentality to understand the nature and purpose of the court proceedings, and make findings concerning each of the factors for determining whether a person meets the definition of incompetent. (NRS 178.455)

Existing law provides that the district attorney or counsel for the defendant may request a hearing on the report prepared by the Administrator. Sections 3 and 4 of this bill revise the time by which the court, when no hearing is requested, is required to make and enter its finding of competence or incompetence of the defendant from within 20 days to within 10

25 days after the Administrator sends the court the report required pursuant to NRS 178.455.
