CHAPTER.....

AN ACT relating to trespassing; revising the provisions governing the crime of trespassing; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

Legislative Counsel's Digest:

Under existing law, a person commits the crime of trespassing if the person willfully goes or remains upon any land or in any building after having been warned not to trespass by the owner or occupant of the land or building. (NRS 207.200) The Nevada Supreme Court has held that when an owner of premises asks a guest who was originally invited to the premises to leave, the owner has given a sufficient warning not to trespass, and the disinvited guest commits trespassing if the guest then refuses to leave. (Scott v. Just. Ct., 84 Nev. 9 (1968))

This bill codifies the holding in Scott and provides that an owner or occupant of any land or premises shall be deemed to have given a sufficient warning to a guest not to trespass if the owner or occupant makes an oral or written demand to the guest to vacate the land or building.
