AN ACT relating to energy; revising the role of local governing bodies in enforcing standards for conservation of energy and energy efficiency; revising provisions relating to the use of electric resistance for heating spaces; requiring that applications for a partial abatement of certain property taxes be filed with various offices; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

Legislative Counsel's Digest:

1      Section 1 of this bill requires local governing bodies that may adopt their own
2 building codes to incorporate the standards for conservation of energy and energy
3 efficiency adopted by the Director of the Office of Energy into their building codes, 4 or to incorporate stricter standards, and then to enforce such standards. Section 2 of 5 this bill: (1) revises the circumstances under which it is permissible to use electric 6 resistance for the heating of spaces; and (2) requires the owner of a building
7 seeking to use electric resistance for the heating of spaces to apply for permission 8 from the local governing body. Section 3 of this bill removes the requirement that 9 the Office of Energy provide copies of an application for a partial abatement of 10 taxes for the use of green building standards to certain other offices and instead 11 requires the applicant to file copies of his application with those other offices.
12 Section 3 also adds the board of county commissioners and, if the property is 13 located within the boundaries of a city, the city manager and city council.
