CHAPTER.....

AN ACT relating to children; expanding the rights of children placed in foster care with respect to their siblings; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

Legislative Counsel's Digest:

Existing law affords specific rights to children who are placed in a foster home by an agency which provides child welfare services. (NRS 432.500-432.550) Existing law provides a right to a child placed in a foster home to contact and visit his or her siblings, unless prohibited from doing so by court order. (NRS 432.525) Section 1 of this bill provides that this right does not apply if such contact is contrary to the safety of the child or his or her siblings. Section 1 also adds, to the extent practicable, the right for such a child to have contact with his or her siblings arranged on a regular basis and on holidays, birthdays and other significant life events. Section 1 further provides that such a child has the right not to have contact or visitation with a sibling withheld as a form of punishment. Section 2 of this bill provides a child who is placed in a foster home with the right, consistent with the age and developmental experience of the child, to be informed of a plan to change, or a change in, the placement of a sibling who is placed in a foster home unless the sibling objects or such notification is prohibited by court order.
