Legislative Counsel's Digest:

Existing law provides that if a person commits certain crimes because of a victim's actual or perceived race, color, religion, national origin, physical or mental disability or sexual orientation: (1) the person who committed the crime is subject to an additional penalty; (2) unless a greater penalty is provided by law, the person who committed the crime is guilty of a gross misdemeanor; and (3) a person injured by the crime may bring a civil action against the person who committed the crime. (NRS 41.690, 193.1675, 207.185) Further, existing law requires the Director of the Department of Public Safety to establish a Program for Reporting Crimes that is designed to collect, compile and analyze statistical data about crimes that manifest evidence of prejudice based on race, color, religion, national origin, physical or mental disability or sexual orientation. (NRS 179A.175) This bill expands those provisions to include: (1) certain additional crimes based on the categories used by the Federal Bureau of Investigation to compile statistics concerning hate crimes; and (2) cases in which a person commits a crime because of the victim's actual or perceived gender identity or expression.
