Explanation

(Use Additional Sheets of Attachments, if required)

Although the provisions of this legislation create additional duties for the Fiscal Analysis Division, we believe the additional workload could be addressed with existing staff resources. We would monitor the number of objections to fiscal notes that are made as a result of this legislation and the number of bills for which additional analysis is requested as a result of this measure. If the additional workload results in the need for additional staff for the Fiscal Analysis Division, we would request the positions in future budget submittals.
