AN ACT relating to elections; revising the circumstances under which candidates of major political parties appear on or are omitted from the ballot at primary elections; revising provisions governing primary elections for ~~certain judicial~~ candidates ~~for~~ for nonpartisan offices; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

Legislative Counsel's Digest:

Under existing law, if a major political party has only one candidate for a particular office, the name of the candidate does not appear on the ballot at the primary election but appears on the ballot at the general election. If a major political party has two or more candidates for a particular office, there must be a primary election where the person who receives the highest number of votes is declared the nominee of that party for the office. (NRS 293.260) ~~This~~ Section 1 of this bill revises the circumstances under which candidates of a major political party either appear on the ballot at the primary election or are omitted from the ballot at the primary election and appear on the ballot at the general election when there are multiple candidates for the major political party.

First, section 1 of this bill provides that if two or more major political parties have candidates for a particular office and at least one of the major political parties has multiple candidates for the office, the candidates of the major political parties with multiple candidates for the office appear on the ballot at the primary election of their respective parties. The candidates who receive the highest number of votes at the primary election of their respective parties are declared the nominees of those parties and appear on the ballot at the general election with any other candidates for the office who are entitled by law to be placed on the ballot at the general election such as: (1) any candidate of a major political party that did not have a primary election because it had only one candidate for the office; (2) any candidate for the office nominated by a minor political party who has filed for the office; and (3) any independent candidate who has filed for the office.

Second, section 1 of this bill provides that if only one major political party has multiple candidates for a particular office and no other major political party has any candidates for the office but there is at least one candidate nominated by a minor political party who filed for the office or one independent candidate who has filed for the office, the candidates of the major political party must appear on the ballot at the primary election. The major political party candidate who receives the highest number of votes at the primary election is the nominee of that party and appears on the ballot at the general election along any other candidates for the office who are entitled by law to be placed on the ballot at the general election.

29 Third, section 1 of this bill provides that if only one major political party has multiple 30 candidates for a particular office and no other major political party has any candidates for the 31 office, and there are no candidates who were nominated by a minor political party or who 32 filed for the office after being so nominated and no independent candidates filed for the office, 33 the candidates of the major political party are subject to the following rules: (1) if there are not 34 more than twice the number of candidates to be elected to that office, the candidates do not 35 appear on the ballot at the primary election but do appear on the ballot at the general election; 36 or (2) if there are more candidates than twice the number to be elected to that office, the 37 candidates appear on the ballot at the primary election, and the candidates who receive the 38 highest number of votes at the primary election, not to exceed twice the number to be elected 39 to that office at the general election, are declared the nominees for the office and appear on the 40 ballot at the general election.

41 Under existing law, the following elected offices are designated as nonpartisan 42 offices: judicial offices, school offices, the office of county sheriff, the Board of Regents of 43 the University of Nevada, city and town officers, the State Board of Education and 44 members of boards of hospital trustees of public hospitals. (NRS 293.195) Existing law in 45 the Nevada Constitution also provides that candidates for the following judicial offices 46 must be elected by the qualified electors at the general election: judges of a district court, 47 judges of the Court of Appeals and justices of the Supreme Court. (Nev. Const. Art. 6, §§ 48 3, 3A, 5)

49 With regard to the election of candidates for any nonpartisan office, existing law 50 provides that if there are more than twice the number of candidates at a primary election for 51 the nonpartisan office, [of judge of a district court, judge of the Court of Appeals or justice of 52 the Supreme Court,] the names of candidates appear on the ballot at the primary election. [If] 53 The candidates who receive the highest number of votes at the primary election, not to 54 exceed twice the number to be elected, are declared the nominees for the nonpartisan 55 office and the names of those candidates are placed on the ballot at the general election.
56 However, existing law also includes an exception which provides that if one of the 57 candidates receives a majority of votes cast in the primary election for [such office, that] : (1)
58 the nonpartisan office of judge of a district court, judge of the Court of Appeals or 59 justice of the Supreme Court, the candidate is declared the only nominee for that office and 60 only his or her name is placed on the ballot at the general election [;] ; or (2) any other 61 nonpartisan office, the candidate is declared elected to the office and his or her name is 62 not placed on the ballot at the general election. (NRS 293.260) [This]

63 Section 1 of this bill removes [this provision] the exception from existing law so that 64 those candidates who receive the highest number of votes at the primary election for [the] any 65 nonpartisan office, [of judge of a district court, judge of the Court of Appeals or justice of the 66 Supreme Court,] not to exceed twice the number to be elected, are declared the nominees for 67 the office and appear on the ballot at the general election regardless of whether one candidate
68 received a majority of votes cast in the primary election for that nonpartisan office. Sections 69 2-24 of this bill make conforming changes to existing statutes and provisions of city 70 charters that apply to municipal elections.
