EXPLANATION – Matter in bolded italics is new; matter between brackets [omitted material] is material to be omitted.

AN ACT relating to radiation; revising the qualifications to perform computed tomography and fluoroscopy; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

Legislative Counsel's Digest:

Existing law prohibits, in general, a person from performing computed tomography unless he or she holds a license issued by the Division of Public and Behavioral Health of the Department of Health and Human Services to engage in radiation therapy and radiologic imaging and is certified by: (1) the American Registry of Radiologic Technologists in nuclear medicine technology, radiation therapy or computed tomography; or (2) the Nuclear Medicine Technology Certification Board in nuclear medicine or computed tomography. (NRS 653.630) Section 1 of this bill requires a person who is certified in nuclear medicine technology, radiation therapy or nuclear medicine to additionally have received training approved by the Division. Section 1 also authorizes the holder of a license to engage in radiation therapy and radiologic imaging to perform computed tomography if he or she has completed other appropriate training approved by the Division or holds another appropriate credential approved by the Division.

Existing law prohibits, in general, a person from performing fluoroscopy unless he or she: (1) holds a license to engage in radiation therapy and radiologic imaging issued by the Division; and (2) is certified by the American Registry of Radiologic Technologists to practice in radiation therapy. (NRS 653.640) Section 2 of this bill additionally authorizes the holder of such a license to perform fluoroscopy if he or she is certified by the American Registry of Radiologic Technologists to practice in the area of radiography or has completed other appropriate training or holds another appropriate credential approved by the Division.
